

OUTLOOK & REVIEW

- > The Fed hiked again in December, somewhat counter to the markets' wishes, fueling a continuation of the bear market that started in October. However, as the market started to price in future Fed cuts instead of hikes, comments from the Fed chairman have softened, hinting at a potential upcoming pause in hikes.
- > The Fund's A-Class units declined 1.65% (1.57% for Class F) in December. Rates exposure significantly offset losses attributable to risk assets (i.e. Energy and Developed Market Equities) within the Fund's Strategic Asset Allocation and Tactical Economic Cycle layers. PMAM hedge fund strategies (the "Alpha" layer) experienced losses in long-biased and global equity mandates. Our VIX hedge also had a solid positive contribution.
- > The Fund outperformed its posted benchmark (a Canadian-biased global 60/40), largely due to risk diversification and hedging benefits embedded within the portfolio construction process. Our outlook remains guarded for the full year ahead, likely with more tactical opportunities to be exploited to both seek return and manage risk.

Highlight

The Fund's objective is to provide consistent long-term capital appreciation with an attractive risk-adjusted rate of return.

Strategy

The Fund utilizes a balanced approach which is an actively managed blend of our authentic hedge fund strategies to deliver returns with less correlation to overall bond and equity markets when compared to traditional long-only funds.
